

The obvious answers nobody wants

Endemic: focal point editorial

Eurozine Editorial, Réka Kinga Papp

29 November 2021

New COVID-19 variants keep the international public anxious, and this crisis, permeating all social, economic and political spheres, isn't even in full bloom yet. Although impossible to contain, it also highlights many potential solutions, which had been lying around for a long time without the political will to act upon them. In gearing up for the much bigger turmoil of an ecological nature, we need to stop concentrating on global centres of power, and give more credit to young motivated people.

Published 29 November 2021

Original in English

First published in Eurozine

Downloaded from eurozine.com (<https://www.eurozine.com/the-obvious-answers-nobody-wants/>)

© Eurozine